

New Jersey Primary Next On List Of Candidate-Testers

WASHINGTON, April 14—New Jersey Democrats readied for a relatively quiet presidential preference poll Tuesday, but Republicans braced for a hot and hectic three-way battle.

Up to a million ballots are expected from 2,360,000 registered voters. The record is 913,538, set in 1940 when New Jersey held its last presidential primary. Results are not binding on presidential nominating delegates to be named also—38 by Republicans and 36 by Democrats.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is the only entered candidate for the Democratic nomination as President.

The Republican story is different. Three GOP presidential nominee candidates are listed on the New Jersey ballot: Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Besides, the delegate posts are well contested.

Taft tried to withdraw from the primary after New Jersey

Gov. Alfred Driscoll threw his support to Eisenhower. Despite his disavowal of interest, Taft's name stayed on the ballot.

Taft backers claim Driscoll's powerful support of Eisenhower assures the general's victory. Eisenhower forces retorted, "poor loser," later saying Taft strategists simply went underground and kept spending campaign money.

Elsewhere the political pot bubbled this way: Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho) who has not said whom he prefers as the GOP nominee for president, aimed a blast at Eisenhower. He said Eisenhower has made a "complete repudiation" of his attitude toward the nomination. He added that "it is hard to see how the people could rely on his statements even if he makes them." Welker's statement was vague, not fully explained.

Eisenhower said in January he would accept but not seek the nomination. He has asked to be relieved as Allied commander in Europe to come home about June 1. He added he would resign his Army commission if nominated so he could express his views freely, but had no plans for a pre-convention campaign.

Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia said in New York Sunday there was no reason Democrats could not have a civil rights plank pleasing to all party members. This would "permit the party to be reunited," said the candidate.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said, in a letter to a Republican group in Oregon, he is not a candidate for any public office. He suggested voters should "avoid wasting their votes on me."

W. Averell Harriman, head of the government's foreign aid program, made it plain he is willing to become a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. He told a group of New York Democrats in Washington Sunday he would "consider it an honor" to have their backing.

Kefauver, in a letter to a backer in New Castle, Pa., said he welcomed support because he is not rich and "in every state I have had a remarkable aggregation of wealth and influence arrayed against me."

In New York, the Progressive Party announced its 1952 convention will be held in Chicago over the July 4 weekend.

Former Congressman Vito Marcantonio, national campaign committee chairman, announced that a party platform will be the main order of business at the convention. The party already has ratified as candidates Vincent Hallinan, California attorney, for President; and Mrs. Charlotte Bass of New York for vice president.

A Kentucky Republican convention in Louisville Saturday completed selection of 20 national convention delegates, with 19 going to Taft and one to Eisenhower.

Arizona Democrats, at a Phoenix convention Saturday, picked a 12-vote unstructured delegation to the national convention. Most declined to say openly whom they preferred.

Twister Lashes New Holland As Storm Hits Central Ohio

A HUFF AND A PUFF by the twister which struck New Holland Sunday morning lifted a barn (shown above) belonging to Tom Doyle, over on its side. Nothing else in the immediate vicinity was touched.

Over around New Holland today they are gathering up the pieces after a twister dipped down about mid-day Easter Sunday to gouge out a few scattered spots of destruction before sweeping on northward toward the central part of the state.

The storm first struck about 11:45 A. M. in the western edge of the town that is in Fayette County and then in the heart of the village that is in Pickaway County.

It ripped off roofs, scattered the metal pieces all around and knocked out television in many homes by tearing off the aerials.

By Wash Fayette

Quite a number of Fayette Countians have visited the "Blue Hole" of Castalia, Erie County.

This famous big spring is located on route 269 a few miles southwest of Sandusky and is visited by thousands annually.

Blue Hole, so-called because of the blue appearance of the water in the funnel-shaped spring, is some 65 feet cross, circular in shape, with a visible depth of 50 to 60 feet.

It has a flow of 7,519 gallons per minute, and the water is "dead" or devoid of air, so that it must be aerated by passing over falls. The daily flow of the spring is about 1,815,000 gallons.

It was discovered in 1761 by Major Robert Rogers, and the first white settlers saw it in 1810.

The spring was formerly a favorite spot for Indians. The area for some distance about "Blue Hole" is composed of very porous limestone, known as calcareous tufa. Timber has been found many feet under the limestone.

It is fed by an underground river and the temperature is 48 degrees, winter and summer. Floods and droughts do not affect it.

The big spring was named Castalia Blue Hole in honor of Pons Castalius, a celebrated fountain in Greece, near Delphi.

It is very similar to a big spring located at Bellefonte, Penn., the town where the state penitentiary is located.

The Bellefonte spring is about as large as Blue Hole, but not as deep. However it has a flow of over 6,000,000 gallons of water a day, furnishes water for the town and operates a sizeable turbine for generating electricity.

It is fed by water from the mountain range adjacent to the town.

The streams fed the water from "Blue Hole" contain large numbers of rainbow trout.

The largest spring I ever visited is at Van Buren, Mo., in the Ozarks. It is known as "Big Spring" and has a peak flow of 636,000,000 gallons per day. The spring flows from beneath a 500 foot limestone cliff and starts a river 100 feet wide. Roar of the gushing water can be heard for more than a mile.

There was no accurate estimate of the overall damage, because, with a few exceptions, it was minor and more of an aggravation than an expense. No one was injured. The twister was a part of the general storm that also lashed the Columbus area about 30 miles to the north.

THE TWISTER'S last stop in the New Holland area was at the Wendell Evans farm northeast of town where it lifted a metal corn crib off its foundation and tossed it 200 yards across the road. It also tore off a chimney on the house.

The biggest trick the wind played was at the Tom Doyle residence in the heart of New Holland.

A large barn back of the Doyle residence was rolled over on its side about 11:45 A. M. by the twister, but a car parked inside wasn't scratched. None of the other equipment was moved around much either.

Officials Mum On Location Of A-Plant

WASHINGTON, April 14 — (AP)—The danger of land speculation may prompt government officials to keep secret until the last moment the site finally selected for a $1 billion atomic energy plant.

Congressional sources were reluctant Monday to identify any more places that may have been surveyed for the big gaseous diffusion plant.

They said they were fearful mention of specific sites might lead speculators to buy up land in hopes of making a killing.

The Atomic Energy Commission has announced it is concentrating its search for a site in the Ohio River Valley.

The commission emphasized that no decision has been made—and it mentioned no individual places as being under consideration.

However, various members of Congress and local people have let it be known that the Cincinnati and Portsmouth areas in Ohio, Louisville, Ky., and a section near Point Pleasant, Va., are being considered.

It also has been reported that surveys have been made in the region around Okeana in Butler County, Ohio.

Rep. James Polk (D-Ohio), who is interested in getting the mammoth installation into the Portsmouth area, has said he understands the matter is before the Budget Bureau. Following approval there, the request for money would be sent to Congress by President Truman.

The proposed plant is part of AEC's huge expansion program which the commission said is "now being drafted for submission to Congress."

resident reported. Another described it as sounding like a siren. Others, not in the path of the twister, commented that they didn't notice the wind blowing too hard.

Other damage in the path of the storm consisted of torn down TV antennas and in a couple of spots tin roofs were lifted off sheds.

WASHINGTON C. H. residents, on their way to church, didn't notice the wind, but torrents of rain thoroughly drenched the Easter parade.

Almost three-fourths of an inch of rain was recorded here during the Sunday storm and the temperature ranged about 20 degrees. A high of 66 and a low of 42 was recorded by the official thermometer and .73 of an inch of rain fell.

Sunny skies in the early afternoon, however, gave the Easter paraders a chance to show off their new clothes.

Central Ohio Lashed By Destructive Storm

COLUMBUS, April 14—(AP)—A tornado hop-scotched its own damaging Easter Parade through Ohio from Columbus to Dover Sunday.

It hurt a motorist and ran up a damage bill of hundreds of thousands of dollars before it petered out in Tuscarawas County.

In its wake, the twister left mangled trees, unroofed houses, damaged factories and tangled power lines.

The storm hit Dover hardest. It cut a swath through the southern edge of that city, wrecking two

Railroads Granted Freight Increase

WASHINGTON, April 14 — (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday gave the railroads a further freight rate increase, estimated to hike charges by about $678 million a year. The rise is nine percent in the south and west and six percent in the east.

The order boosts rates 15 percent above what they were at this time last year. It is the 12th general freight rate increase allowed since the end of World War II. The increases may be put into effect upon 15 days' notice to the public, except for grains and grain products, on which a 30-day rate-revision notice will be required.

Truce Talks Lasts Just 15 Seconds

MUNSAN, April 14—(AP)—Negotiations of a Korean truce set another new record for brevity Monday. They met only 15 seconds, including time for translation.

United Nations Command sub-delegates gave no indication when they would be ready to resume the recessed talks to the prisoner of war question—one of three major stumbling blocks before an armistice—as requested by the Reds Sunday in a 50-second session.

Steel Dispute May Become Political Issue

Senators May Probe Actual Amount Of Industry Profits

WASHINGTON, April 14 — (AP)—Deadlocked steel wage negotiations between industry and union resumed Monday amid signs government seizure of the steel mills may become a political campaign issue.

Among other rumblings on Capitol Hill, the Senate Banking Committee talked of calling witnesses to show whether President Truman was right when he said steel plants made "outrageous" demands for higher prices to finance wage boosts.

The committee also wants to find out whether Congress really has taxed the profits out of the Korean war, and some believe a probe of the steel situation may provide the answer.

Truman's right to seize the mills already has brought bitter reaction, particularly from Republicans, and there was little doubt the steel snarl would figure in campaign oratory this election year.

While Truman's move did constitute law by executive order instead of by legislative action, it was not unprecedented in American history. For instance:

JEFFERSON acted without congressional approval when he made the Louisiana Purchase.

So did Lincoln when he freed the slaves without compensating the owners.

And so did Roosevelt when he seized an aircraft plant in California several months before Pearl Harbor.

Each provoked violent exchanges of words in Congress.

There are no signs industry and the CIO Steelworkers Union are any closer to an agreement than they were when talks were recessed over the Easter weekend.

Mills, nominally under government management, are operating, but the union said Friday its

Famed Indian, Billy Bruner, Dies In Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., April 14—(AP)—An Indian legend died here Sunday in the person of William G. (Billy) Bruner.

Bruner, a spunky full-blooded Creek Indian, got into many scrapes with the law in his youth. When he later switched sides, his accurate Winchester was a big help in the efforts to establish order in the frontier Indian territory. Bruner did not know how old he was. Relatives said he was from 98 to 100, but a 1946 news article listed him as 110.

Billy was jailed by federal authorities while he was young for shooting U. S. Marshal Bill Moody. A posse had come to his home one night, intent on returning him to prison for liquor trading.

Believing the posse was a band of unfriendly Indians, he opened fire and the marshal was killed. While Billy was in federal prison in Columbus, Ohio, that state's governor became interested in the youth, reviewed the case, became convinced the shooting was accidental.

Later, William McKinley went on to become president of the United States, and one of his first acts as chief executive was to pardon Bruner.

Ohio Bell Telephone Strike Ends With New Settlement

Everything was getting back to normal today in the Washington C. H. office of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Just one week after a nationwide strike threatened to disrupt operations.

But that threat never fully materialized here. Service was maintained without interruption and the normal volume of calls was handled, although at times some handicaps had to be overcome.

A settlement of the week-old wage dispute between the union and company was effected over the weekend, and Monday morning the operators who had been out on strike were reported returning to their posts at the switchboards on schedule.

SERVICE was maintained here during the strike by the operators who were not members of the union or ignored its walkout orders and by supervisory and management personnel.

So the masculine bass "voice with a smile" was conspicuous by its absence Monday.

The first two days of the strike were marked here by a few good humored girls picketing the East Court Street office for short periods Monday and Tuesday. They gave it up after that, however. It

Bloody Bolivia Awaiting New Rebel Chieftain

LA PAZ, April 14 — (AP)—Revolt-bloodied Bolivia, burying more than 300 dead and tending some 1,500 wounded, appeared Monday under firm control of its new revolutionary government.

Awaited was Victor Paz Estenssoro, long-exiled leader who is due to return from Argentina Wednesday to head the new regime.

After installing a 13-man cabinet of the National Revolutionary Party, MNR, the victorious rebels Sunday night sent a delegation by plane to Buenos Aires to invite Paz Estenssoro, the party's chief, to return. He said he would accept the bid.

Paz Estenssoro won the greatest number of votes—almost half—in presidential elections 11 months ago but failed to win an overall majority. Before the legislature could choose between three leading candidates, a military junta headed by Gen. Hugo Ballivian moved in by force.

It was this clique which Paz Estenssoro's supporters swept from power in a three-day battle starting last Wednesday.

Gen. Ballivian was believed to have taken asylum in a foreign embassy, reportedly Venezuela's. There was no immediate information on the whereabouts of Gen. Humberto Torres Ortiz, his army chief of staff who led the government forces and who signed the formal surrender to the rebels Friday afternoon.

Easter Egg Kills New Yorker, 70

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., April 14—(AP)—John Tyburczy, 70, put a whole boiled Easter egg in his mouth and then collapsed. He died within a few seconds.

A medical examiner said the death Sunday was caused by asphyxiation after the egg apparently blocked Tyburczy's breath.

the telephone office here had been picketed.

The telephone still provided the only wire communications in and out of Washington C. H.; for the Western Union telegraph office remained closed by a nationwide strike that began a little more than a week ago.

Phone Strike Settled By Wage Agreement

CLEVELAND, April 14—(AP)—The week-old strike of 12,000 Ohio Bell employees was settled Monday.

The situation was not immediately clear, however, as to whether 900 striking Western Electric employees in Ohio would establish picket lines and block a work resumption by the Ohio Bell workers.

The Western Electric walkout is part of a dispute involving WE workers in 43 states. WE is a Bell subsidiary and the striking repairmen and sales employees work in Bell buildings.

A spokesman for the CIO Communication Workers—which represents both WE and Ohio Bell workers—said the Ohio Bell workers would respect any picket lines established by the Western Electric strikers.

Car and Truck Collide Near Here in Downpour

RAY J. Front end of Childers' car was demolished, and front of truck was badly smashed. John P. Pettit, 25, 810 Maple Street, driver of the truck was not injured. State Highway Patrolman Max Brinkles checked the accident. Brinkles said the accident occurred at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning, when Pettit tried to turn off the highway and the driver did not see the approaching car, obscured by a small hill. Visibility was bad because of a downpour of rain.

FCC Thaw Means Television For Areas Without It Now

WASHINGTON, April 14 — (AP)—Television in every American community was a long step nearer Monday as the government lifted its 3½-year freeze on new stations.

Eventually 2,000 stations may be built throughout the United States and its possessions. Only 108 operate now, mainly in large cities.

The Federal Communications Commission's "unfreeze" order means TV reception for areas which do not have it now, a far wider range of programs in areas already covered, and a gold rush for the multi-million-dollar industry itself.

Only about half the American population can get television shows. The FCC, in announcing it will grant permits for new stations, opened the door to 2,053 stations in 1,291 communities scattered over the country.

To handle this many stations, the FCC had to increase the number of channels from the present 12 to 82. This was done by moving into the ultra-high frequencies (UHF), now used only for experimental purposes.

DESPITE this technical change, present sets will not become obsolete. To receive the new channels, however, a converter must be installed at a cost estimated from $10 to $50, depending on the set and the number of channels desired. Later new-type receivers will be built to cover varied reception needs.

New television will not appear overnight. Obtaining grants to applications and construction of stations will take time.

However, the FCC said it intends to give first attention to

Great Exodus Said Affecting 20,000 Families

Sioux City, Iowa, Takes Blow; Omaha Area Is Prepared

OMAHA, April 14—(AP)—The mad-dened Missouri River, pouring down its valley the greatest flood that man has recorded for the stream, and other rampaging rivers in the Midwest have chased about 20,000 families from their homes.

The Red Cross, which made the estimate, translated it to represent about 74,000 persons.

Included in the estimate are families in the eight or nine states that have so far felt the scourge of the raging waters.

ONE OF THE biggest, if not the biggest, mass movements of families is in the Omaha and Council Bluffs, Ia., area, with a combined population of 366,000 people.

In these two cities evacuation of residential districts normally holding some 30,000 persons is underway as the two cities wait for the crest expected Wednesday. This, flood experts said, is the largest group of persons affected along the Missouri River Valley.

The mad Missouri River threw everything it had at the Sioux City, Ia., area Monday and gave new intensity to the dramatic fight against water being waged in the downstream Omaha-Council Bluffs, Ia., area.

For Sioux City, with 84,000 persons, and neighboring South Sioux City, Neb., with 5,500, the crest's arrival was only insult atop injury. Surrender had come days earlier and inundation had been a creeping, progressive thing.

Downstream, town after town was either prostrate or abandoned. But Omaha and Council Bluffs were fighting it out—prepared for the worst but determined to forestall it.

This was the picture in the twin cities:

About two-thirds of Council Bluffs' 45,000 persons had fled or were pulling out of their homes. Across the river, in the East Omaha and Carter Lake, Ia., areas, homes of perhaps 5,000 more were similarly deserted.

THESE WERE ghost areas, patrolled only by soldiers, police and civil guards. Not even the persons who live there were permitted to enter much of the area.

Experienced relief workers called the exodus one of the biggest disaster movements in memory.

The river, meanwhile, was at record high levels and steadily climbing toward the 30 foot crest expected Wednesday.

The old high mark of 24.6 feet established in 1881 was passed Sunday. Monday the reading was 25.4 compared with flood stage of 19.

At 26.6, the river will be at the level which levees and flood walls along the two cities were designed to handle.

The flood-ravaged Missouri River area extended all the way from lower South Dakota, along the Iowa-Nebraska reaches and into Kansas and Missouri. Other states, and other rivers, also figured in the grim flood picture.

Large Turnout For Easter- Day Services Here

Grace Methodist
Has Largest Number
With 1,080 Persons

Although rain poured during the morning, there was one of the largest church attendances in history out here at Easter Day services on Sunday.

Reports from six of the largest churches in the city—Grace Methodist, First Presbyterian, St. Colman, First Christian, First Baptist and the Episcopal churches—indicate that their pastors were greeted with capacity crowds of churchgoers.

Rev. Allan W. Caley reported that 1,080 persons attended the three services held at the Grace Methodist Church on Sunday. At the regular 10:30 A. M. service there were 700 persons present.

At the First Presbyterian Church it was estimated that there were 600 persons at the regular morning and about 250 at the sunrise services. About 100 members of the Mason Lodge here attended church in a body at the sunrise service.

Father John Lennihan estimated that there were between 450 and 500 persons present for the two masses held at St. Colman's Catholic Church on Sunday.

One of the leaders in the First Baptist Church reported that there were 250 persons out for the regular morning services.

An estimated crowd of 350 persons turned out for the main Easter Day services at the First Christian Church.

The little St. Andrew's Episcopal Church had a turnout of 146 persons for its Easter services.

Rain came late in the morning, and many of the churchgoers had to wait inside their churches for rides, as the weather threatened to put a crimp in their Easter outfits.

Easter Egg Roll Saturday Is Indoors

The weather upset some of the plans for the second annual Easter egg roll for the boys and girls of the St. Andrew's Church School at the Country Club on Holy Saturday, but it could not spoil it.

When it was considered too chilly for the youngsters to hunt the dozens of colored eggs the members of St. Christina's Guild had planned to hide on the lawn in the grove of big oak trees, the whole affair was just moved into the club house.

There, the eggs were hidden in nooks and corners around the lounge and there the happily screaming youngsters hunted them.

The indoor hunt may have been a disappointment in some ways to the adults, but to the children it was an afternoon of fun from start to finish.

It was difficult for the sponsoring committee to count the scrambling kids, but best estimates placed the number of little hunters at around 60.

After the egg hunt the boys and girls were entertained with games suitable for indoors. Incidentally, they got to keep the eggs they found as a sort of prize.

The committee was made up of Mrs. James Tremblott, Miss Ann Story, Mrs. Robert L. Brubaker, Mrs. Maynard Craig, Mrs. Gene Bach and Mrs. Falls Paine.

Mrs. Craig was presented a water garden of flowers by St. Christina's Guild for her service as the president of the guild during the past year. She is to be succeeded in the presidency by Mrs. C. G. Hayes.

Ohio Bell

He said he had been informed, however, "no picket lines will be set up today."

CWA UNIONISTS directly in charge of the WE strike in Ohio were not immediately available.

A pay boost ranging from $4 to $7—same as settlement terms in the Ohio Michigan strike last week—ended the Ohio Bell walkout.

The union had asked for $8.40 and the company has been offering between $3 and $6.

The increase would average 11.5 cents an hour. Of this, approval by the Wage Stabilization Board must be obtained for 3.8 cents.

Although only some 12,000 Ohio Bell workers were on strike, the dispute idled 16,000.

Western Electric, which makes telephones for the Bell System, is negotiating its strike in New York City. There, too, negotiations were optimistic, but by no means as confident as at Ohio Bell.

For the first time since Friday, full scale sessions were scheduled for Monday by federal mediators.

Ernest Weaver, general director of the CWA's installation division, said after Sunday's meeting the conferees were "not as far apart."

But one union official added that there was "still a long way to go."

Then he grinned, nodded at the five mediators and said: "They seem satisfied."

The Western Union Telegraph Co. strike, now in its 12th day, was at a stalemate.

Weaver said the 10,000 installation workers and 6,000 distributors at warehousemen striking against WE wanted a 23-cents hourly wage pay to be added to present wages.

These wages average $1.67 to $2.30 an hour. The company, Weaver said, has offered 11 to 16-cent hikes.

Gorilla Hunter Killed in Crash

Parents Formerly
Lived in County

Bill Said, 26, big game hunter and son of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. (Bill) Said of Columbus, formerly of Jeffersonville, was killed in a truck accident while hunting gorillas in the Belgian Congo in Africa.

Word of his death reached his parents in Columbus, Saturday. He was killed in the mountainous area near Leopoldville in Africa.

One of his companions wired his parents of the tragedy.

The Eagan and Eagan Funeral Home in Columbus, is in charge of arrangements.

His parents reside at 1051 South James Road, Columbus.

SAID HAS a number of distant relatives in Fayette County. His parents moved to Columbus from Jeffersonville, many years ago.

It was following hunting expeditions in the Congo that he was asked by various zoos to capture gorillas for them, and his work was very successful. He had announced that his present expedition would be his last, because of the great dangers connected with gorilla capturing.

At one time he was bitten through the arm by a gorilla, and another time nearly died of a jungle disease.

He had hunted big game in Canada, western U. S., Mexico and Africa.

Said had won nationwide recognition and was featured in the November, 1951 issue of Life magazine.

The Columbus Zoo has three gorillas he captured on previous expeditions.

His body will be flown back to America.

Benton Fulton Dies Monday Morning

Benton Fulton, 93, died at his home in Clarksburg Monday morning at 2 o'clock. He was a retired farmer.

Born in Fayette County, he had spent all his life as a farmer in the Waterloo community. After retiring, he moved first to New Holland and then to Clarksburg.

patience is "not inexhaustible." What this was meant to imply was not clear, since technically at least the union is working for the government and may not go on strike.

The Wage Stabilization Board suggested a three-installment wage boost of 17½ cents an hour, fringe benefits which the industry says are worth about eight cents an hour more, and recommended that

Claims Examined By Commissioners

At their regular meeting Monday morning at the Court House the county commissioners received a copy of the resignation of Miss Elaine Bogges, secretary to Prosecutor Clark Wickensimer, effective April 30.

Although Wickensimer, because of ill health, has not been active as prosecuting attorney for some time, the work has been carried on by Attorney John Bath, as acting prosecutor. The salary of Miss Bogges, as prosecutor's secretary, has been paid by the county.

Aside from routine business, the county commissioners spent much of the Monday morning session in examination of sheep claims recently filed by owners of animals killed by dogs.

Otis Bonecutter, dog warden, was called into the meeting to assist in the adjustment of claims. In his position, Bonecutter makes investigation of such claims.

Miss Garringer Dies in Hospital

Miss Christina Garringer, 42, who lived most of her early life in the Rock Mills community and a few years in Washington C. H., died in a Columbus hospital Saturday morning following a lingering illness.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Garringer and is survived by four half-brothers, Bert, Ira and Frank of Fayette County, and Levy of Springfield. An aunt, Mrs. Roma Slager, lives near Clarksburg.

Funeral services are to be held at the Parrett Funeral Home at 1:30 P. M. Wednesday. Burial is to be in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

the steel companies sign a union shop agreement.

The union was well satisfied with the recommendations, but industry protested both the wage boost and the union shop agreement, which would require all steel workers to belong to Philip Murray's CIO Union.

To finance the wage boost, industry wants a sharp increase in steel prices—something President Truman, in announcing seizure of the mills, said was unnecessary. He said steel operations "never have been so profitable" since the days of World War I, and that profits are far ahead of pre-Korean levels.

Strikes Are Costly To Every Family

Strikes are ruinously expensive to business in general, but they are costly also to every citizen who is not directly involved in union strategy to force higher and higher wages upon the nation's economy. Employees themselves suffer.

Strikes entail loss of pay checks, which today are fantastically high in comparison with those of several decades ago.

Union leaders constantly harp about take-home pay, but there is no take-home pay when the head of the family, and perhaps other members, are not working because of a strike.

During the long-drawn out strike of automobile workers in Detroit the economy of a great city was so seriously threatened that the pall of catastrophe was everywhere.

In Pittsburgh retail business slumped noticeably as steelworkers hoarded their money because of possible loss of pay during a strike.

Already it is apparent that there will be fewer automobiles and probably less other durable goods because of the steel controversy and what may follow, even though the government seized the plants.

Strikes, always harmful to all concerned, should be called only when there is no alternative. When a union composed of high paid workers is offered an increase of six cents an hour less than it demands, it has no excuse for striking.

Insistence by strike threat that any plant must be entirely unionized, or that all workers must pay union dues if not compelled to belong to a union, is as unconstitutional and as un-American as to insist that a man must be a Baptist, a Methodist, a Catholic or a lodge member, before he can be granted a job.

vide additional billions to finance increased defense effort and to aid other nations.

There seems to be total disregard at top levels of a situation in this land of the free which is in fact equally serious.

So far little action has been taken against those who corrupt the government at a time when the people are asked to pay and pay for security against the Communist aggressor. The president in fact takes the position that his administration has been the most honest in history.

Are American people becoming reconciled to the theory that the government is fair game for all those who would profit through its exploitation?

Have they not been properly aroused over the millions made through the sale of surplus ships, the graft exposed in the Internal Revenue Department, the scandals in grain storage, the flow of war materials to Russia, and favoritism or worse in the granting of RFC loans?

While the taxpayers are told to shell out more billions for defense, they see Congress voting, and being urged to vote more billions for projects which are politically inspired in behalf of votes.

A nation which is operating on a deficit basis, whose national debt is mounting every hour while taxes are boosted twice a year with clocklike regularity, is asked to keep its eyes riveted on a challenge from the outside which may be less deadly than the graft and chicanery of traitorous politicians.

While medical science is prolonging life, few persons want to live long enough for the national debt to catch up to them.

It will be difficult for commencement orators to make themselves heard this year amid the campaign clamor.

Reconciled To Graft?

Because of threats from without the American people are being urged to pro-

Men Boycott Easter Parade?

NEW YORK—It is no secret that the prestige of the male in America has been on the to-boggan for some time.

But modern masculinity sinks to new depths of obscurity during the Easter parade.

What part does a man play in this annual outdoor fashion show?

He is about as anonymous as a sardine in the sea. Who cares what he wears? Nobody. If he showed up clad only in his birthday suit, who would notice him? Nobody. All eyes are on the ladies, who have turned the Easter parade into a marching demonstration of womanhood triumph.

This is the hour of feminine power, and every woman knows it. She puts on her prettiest feathers and struts the streets in peacock pride. What is that drab thing that mopes along by her side? Well, it used to be a man.

But a man is no longer a man in the Easter parade. He is a strolling slave to his queen, a lackey, a kind of walking watchdog. If he dressed properly for the spirit of the occasion, he would wear a ring through his nose.

It wasn't that way of yore. Your cavalier of yesteryear was a match for Mama in every way during the Easter parade. If she wore silk, he matched her in satin. He wore a bunch of lace at his throat and a bright sword dangled from his side.

He was the strutting equal of his lady in every respect, a colorful figure who stirred the pulses of onlookers with his knightly bearing. Even 50 years ago the newspapers described in great detail the Easter outfits of the dandies of the time. What Reggie Van Swager wore was almost as much public interest as the new dress that tented Mrs. Astorbill.

But since men, to the growing dismay of custom tailors, have become steadily less important in the world of Easter fashions. A man could show up wearing a poodle haircut and walking on all fours like a dog, but nobody would pay him any never mind. They would just look to see what the lady he escorted was wearing.

Yes, Papa is a complete nonentity at Eastertide. The family budget can only afford finery for one—and that one is mama. She has won the victory of equal rights.

About all the average man can afford to buy for the big style event is a pair of robin's egg blue socks and a dashing set of new cufflinks.

How long is this going to go on? In some male breasts the seed of rebellion has already been sown. Some year the men of America are going to hold a mass boycott of the Easter parade.

"I am tired of being an overlooked scarecrow," Papa will tell Mama. "You go walk by yourself. I'm going to pull down the window shades, take off my shoes and stay home and look at television."

If men just had the courage to do that once, women would figure out a way to re-equip the man of the house with a few fine feathers and let him share the parade spotlight again. For if there is anything a woman hates, it is to get all dressed up for Easter—and have to go out alone.

UN and Korea Prisoners of War

It is impossible to make head or tail out of the negotiations at Panmunjon concerning prisoners of war. The rumors lead to the unbelievable conclusion that the American authorities would be willing to sacrifice the anti-Communist Korean prisoners of war to end the nine-month deadlock.

Such an inhuman appeasement of Stalin should shock the moral sensibilities of the world because all these sacrifices to freedom and probably their families, will be killed in revenge for their patriotism.

I have been permitted to see a letter addressed to Cardinal Spellman by a Korean prisoner-of-war now in one of our camps, who wrote:

"... We escaped from the tiger's jaws and surrendered to the UN forces. We now cast ourselves upon Your Eminence's Christian charity and entreat your powerful help. We fear that the UN authorities do not fully understand our dreadful plight—that they will deliver us back into the grip of our souls' enemies.

We beg them rather to put us in the front line of the UN forces in desperate attacks. Put us where we can front the worst shocks of our detested enemy. We will prove our worth.

"May we suggest that the world unite to grapple with these foes of the supernatural, to struggle until, with victory comes a chance to live in peace. Eminence, how can it be done? You can sympathize with our bewilderment. We hope that, if we are unacceptable to UN forces, you can persuade them to send us to Free China in Formosa. Or is there no corner of the free world for us?"

No matter how skillfully and successfully the truth is hidden from us, the facts pass along the Asiatic underground grapevine and have reached these desperate human beings to whom death is no greater danger than surrender to the mad Chinese-Russian masters who would torture them to lie and to denounce the United States. The torture would be of the soul even more than of the body.

Now that the truth of the Katyn massacre is accepted by most decent persons—and the truth is that Katyn was a mass murder of Poles by Russians—it is believable that these enemies of civilization can kill off their prisoners-of-war and throw them into a common grave. Any appeasement of the Russians could produce the most brutal massacre and for it the United States would have to accept responsibility. We handed over those Germans who ideologically stood by us; if we are about to do that to the Koreans, it will be an outrage not only against the victims, but against all morality.

Our position in Asia has already been so weakened that it is difficult to discover means for strengthening it. The betrayal of China, arranged by General

George Marshall and fully documented in the testimony before the Russell Committee about the dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur, had an impact on Asia so powerful that it is today our most serious international problem.

How could India or Pakistan or Iran trust the United States, once we had betrayed China? The so-called internationalists in the United States who place Europe above America and whose main concern is the preservation of Great Britain and France rather than to protect the future of the United States, sincerely believed between 1945 and 1950 that they could ignore Asia. However, Stalin, who had captured the initiative at Yalta, decided that Asia would be his battlefield.

Even while he arranged for what has come to be known as the episode of the Berlin airlift, it was only a distraction for the consolidation of his position in China, and when that was completed, he arranged for the war in Korea, which cost him nothing, but has given the United States nearly 107,000 casualties and restored a war economy for the American people.

In every diplomatic move, thus far, Stalin has been successful and the United States has either arranged a palliative like NATO or has retreated from its position. The reason is that American diplomacy, which should have been focused on Asia, was focused on Great Britain and France. This fundamental error is the mother of all our errors.

And now the prisoner-of-war negotiations at Panmunjon may lead us into another error, that of an inhuman betrayal of our own allies, of men who strengthened our cause by surrender. The immorality of such an act will have everlasting repercussions.

Modern Methods Used For Bone Equalization

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Deformities in human beings result from many causes. Certain diseases of the muscles, joints, nerves, tendons or bones bring deformities in their wake. Scar tissue from disease is a frequent cause of deformity.

A short arm or leg, due to bones of unequal length, is usually the result of a birth injury or other injury. It may also follow poliomyelitis, or the bone infection, osteomyelitis.

A short leg, however, can produce a definite disadvantage. Until recently, with the perfection of modern anesthetics, a person with this deformity had to wear a high shoe, or use some other form of control. For adults an operation was perfected in which the longer bone was usually shortened.

The more important search for many years has been to find a method of equalizing bones in children before the deformity is too marked.

We are now seeing some success. We have found that a sym-pathectomy operation, cutting certain nerves in the back, will decrease the growth of a bone on one side of the body. We have also found that breaking a bone can sometimes increase its size when it heals.

Metal or ivory screws can be planted in the shaft portion of a bone to increase its growth. Doctors have also used staples of stainless steel to retard bone growth. These staples are inserted in the portion of the bone which controls growth, known as the epiphysis.

By using methods to decrease growth in the normal bone and stimulate growth in the abnormal one, doctors have been able to equalize the two legs. When staples are used, however, they may have to remain in place for at least two years.

It is always a pleasure to advise parents of new methods as they are perfected, when they can help prevent certain deformities in children.

Widening East-West Gap Feared

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, April 14—Secretary Dean Acheson's objection to American participation in the current economic and trade conference at Moscow has been questioned by many industrialists who hate and distrust the Stalin regime as much as he does. Nevertheless, they fear that this widening of the abyss between the West and East is short-sighted policy.

Although sympathizing fully with Mr. Acheson, and realizing that he has good reason for suspecting any Russian advances, they see no harm in discussing a possible exchange of goods with Moscow.

They note that the British and French have sent representatives to listen to the Muscovite proposals, which envisage huge purchases of finished articles from the so-called capitalistic countries.

AGENTS — Both 10 Downing Street and the Quai d'Orsay place no more faith in the Kremlin's diplomatic or political promises than Washington does. Churchill says that he sees no reason for a face-to-face conference of top-level statesmen, as Stalin vaguely suggested in his telegram to touring American editors.

But they raised no objections when some of their leading manufacturers expressed a desire to talk business with the Reds, who have become the buying and selling agents for an area with a population of several hundred million prospective customers.

TRADE — It is true, as Mr. Acheson notes privately, that a full revival of East-West commerce would strengthen Russia and her satellites in the "cold war," and in the hot Korean conflict.

But the business community, or a large part of it, suggests somewhat timidly that trade agreements might pave the way for a more far-reaching understanding on ideological issues.

They recall the old saying, although they reverse it, that "trade follows the flag." In this instance, they think, trade may precede.

BOYCOTT — Secretary Acheson could not prevent American representatives of General Motors, International Harvester and the de Ponts from attending the Moscow meetings. The Kremlin's invitations were issued to individual firms rather than to governments. But he established an effective boycott by indirection.

He persuaded the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to issue a public statement against participation by American firms. Although supposedly a secret, it became known throughout the industrial and business community that he had inspired the warning.

In view of the fact that most of these corporations look upon the United States government as their best customers during the rearmament period, none failed to heed Acheson's caveat, especially as he later reinforced it in his public statements.

DELEGATE — Oddly enough, the Chamber of Commerce followed an entirely different procedure in a controversy of similar nature. This dispute involved the question of sending an employer delegate to future sessions of the International Labor Organization, a subsidiary of the United Nations.

As recently related here, this body is an extremely radical group. Inspired by representatives from socialist or communistic member-nations, it frequently adopts recommendations hostile to our economic system. The labor and government delegates from the United States invariably support these ideas.

The employer delegate, Charles P. McCormick of the famous spice corporation, has fought these ILO agreements. In fact, he was so disgusted with the proceedings that he recently wrote a denunciatory magazine article. He assailed the labor-government emissaries to the ILO's Geneva conferences for their sympathy toward "European socialism."

DISAPPOINTED — In view of Mr. McCormick's criticism, and since he was then a member of the Chamber's board of directors, he was asked to appear before that body after the 1951 session at Geneva. He was counted on to supply data to support the demand of several directors that the C. of C. refuse to comply with the government's annual request that it name an emissary to ILO meetings.

Mr. McCormick disappointed them, advancing the same arguments voiced by many industrialists against administration boycott of the trade talks at Moscow. Mr. McCormick said, in effect: "We would cut off our own nose by pulling out of the ILO. For one thing, having an agent there keeps us informed, and why we have a vote and a voice in opposition. Moreover, some day the trend may change, and we can help it along."

PROPAGANDA —The directors voted to string along. Similarly, many industrial leaders think that the United States should have attended the Moscow trade conference, either to call the Reds' bluff or to make conditional contracts for an exchange of goods.

Stalin, of course, has already used the Acheson boycott for propaganda purposes. Recent Russian publications have declared that the U.S. prefers to swap bullets instead of goods. Among satellite and neutral countries, that charge tends to offset Truman-Acheson pronouncements that our only rearmament aim is national defense, and the preservation of world peace.

Flower Show Balked By Backward Spring

This backward spring weather is upsetting the plans of humans as well as of Nature.

The flower show that was to have been given by the Twin Oaks Garden Club and the Marilee Garden Club this coming Wednesday has been postponed— indefinitely.

Mrs. Loren Johnson of the Twin Oaks Club blamed it all on the weather. In a word, the cold spring has kept the flowers tightly locked in the buds; there just are not very many in bloom yet and ready to show.

Mrs. Johnson said there would be a show later on, but she made no prediction as to the date. She implied that the time would be determined by the weather.

Both the Twin Oaks and Marilee clubs are made up of flower fanciers of the Good Hope community. Together, the two clubs have about 40 members.

Kefauver Up Stump With Setup In Ohio

Observers Say He Could Have Had Entire Delegation

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, April 14 — (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, with President Truman sidelined, probably is biting his nails over prospects for Ohio delegates to the Democratic convention.

High-ranking Democrats say that's because the Tennesseean decided to contest the party's state organization for delegates instead of awaiting developments.

They said Kefauver ignored an early offer of "equal consideration" with other presidential prospects if he'd wait for Truman to step aside. An Ohioan made the offer to Kefauver on Capitol Hill in Washington, they said. Identities of the spokesmen were withheld.

Kefauver currently is regarded as the front-running Democratic prospect for President. The Ohio spokesmen said Kefauver probably could have had state organization backing by now, if he had heeded the early offer.

INSTEAD, he is fighting the state organization for delegates without apparent hope of reconciliation. He has a slate of only 35 delegate candidates against 61 for the organization.

The organization failed to qualify a candidate in a district where Kefauver has two. That assures Kefauver one delegate without opposition in the May 6 primary.

He is a sure 27 delegates worse off going into the election than he might have been with organization backing. And state Democratic leaders appear unworried over the contests for 34 delegates despite strong victory claims from the Kefauver camp.

Ohio will have 54 votes in the Democratic convention in Chicago July 21. District delegates will have a full vote each and statewide delegates a half-vote apiece.

Kefauver's slate is made up of 27 district and eight statewide candidates. The organization qualified 45 district and 16 at-large delegates. They are pledged to former Sen. Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland as the "Favorite son" candidate for President.

Kefauver and Bulkley are the only presidential candidates named on the Ohio Democratic primary ballot. State law forbids write-ins. Bulkley was widely regarded as a stand-in for President Truman. But State Democratic Chairman Eugene H. Hanhart of Dover denied it all along. He said Bulkley-pledged delegates are in the best possible position to look over the field.

THAT'S WHAT they are doing now. One estimate says the Democratic presidential possibilities may number at least 20 by convention time.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has resisted all attempts to bring in his name for presidential or vice presidential consideration. "My position has not changed," he reiterated. He is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for an unprecedented fourth term as governor and has disclaimed any desire for national office this year.

A group of Democrats in the Dayton area started a movement to swing Ohio behind Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for President. Little has been heard of it since Stevenson's failure to get many presidential write-in votes in the Illinois primary.

He is seeking reelection and he discouraged the write-in drive. He is regarded as Truman's choice for President. The Ohio Democratic organization disclaimed any part in the Stevenson movement in the Buckeye state.

Washington C. H., Ohio

Record-Herald
Dear Sir:

This article dates from the year 1912 at which time a conspiracy was launched, having as its purpose the overthrow of the American form of government. The plan was that of an American born citizen. He has never held public office of any kind and has always refused such when offered him. During all of these years, with his association with presidents and other officials in high authority, and published magazine articles, he has never been called for his radical views concerning the future existence of America. The plan was at that time and has since been labeled as a Master Plan calling for the complete destruction of the America we love, and is since the above date, being slowly primed with this end in view.

It has been said that we sometimes cannot see the forest for the trees. So with all our surroundings it is hard for us to believe that such a conspiracy really exists. But it does. And we had better face it.

Millions of Americans the past few years have come to realize that all these New Deal objectives are leftist revolutions, but how few understand that such a program has been fashioned according to an occult blueprint from the very beginning. With all the disclosures that have been made the past few years there is no need for anyone stumbling in the dark.

Five years before the Russian Revolution, this conspiracy was carefully planned and that revolution was included as part of the plan for world domination.

You remember that during World War I a mystery man flitted to and fro among the capitals of the world. This mystery man was personal advisor to President Wilson and his administration, and who was known as the "Holy Monk" of that administration. He had the same influence with Mr. Wilson as did Rasputin, the devil, over the Royal family of Czar Nicholas II of Russia.

This mystery man refused every political office offered him. This seemed quite strange. Some time later, following close of the World War I, the identification of the mystery man, or the "Holy Monk" of the Wilson administration, was revealed to be none other than Wilson's most trusted advisor, Colonel E. Mandell House, author of the book "Philip Dru: Administrator" which contained in detail the conspiracy for the destruction of America.

Mr. Wilson finally broke with Mr. House when that gentleman advised him to recognize the Bolshevik government of Russia. The American people said NO, and Mr. Wilson acted accordingly.

After the death of Mr. Wilson, the next man in line under the bewitching smiles of the smooth Mr. House was none other than the sanctimonious Franklin D. Roosevelt. So FDR was quietly groomed for the White House. Following Mr. Roosevelt's acceptance speech of his first nomination, he immediately left by plane from Chicago to be House's special guest in Massachusetts.

A few months following FDR's election, Mr. House had published in Liberty magazine an article titled, "Does The United States Need a Dictator: A Warning to Selfish Capitalism," which advocated the overthrow of the American govern-

Magic Show Set Here Thursday Patronage Hit In New Bills

Truman Would Put 22,000 on Merits

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—President Truman asked Congress Thursday to remove an estimated 22,000 postmasters, customs collectors and U. S. Marshals from patronage rolls and put them under Civil Service.

The plans were contained in three separate government reorganization proposals covering the Postoffice Department, the Treasury and the Department of Justice.

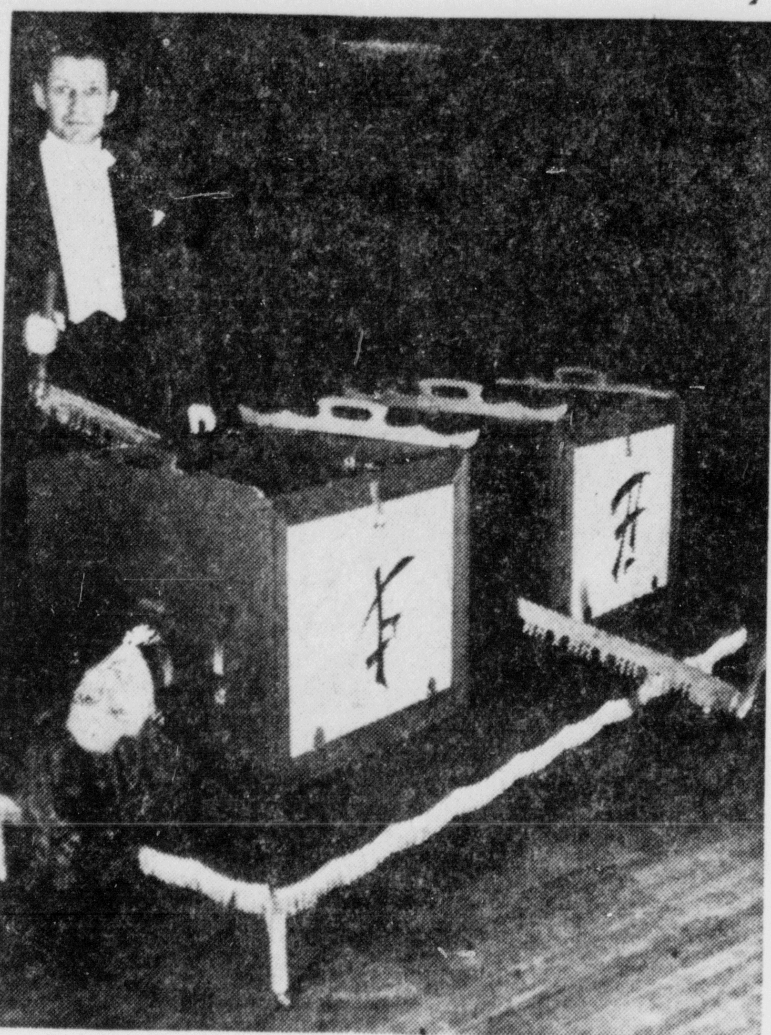

The proposal was similar to the plan Truman proposed last January to remove all internal revenue collectors save the head of the bureau from political appointment and to put them under Civil Service provisions.

That proposal became law March 14 after the House approved the Truman plan unanimously and the Senate failed to vote down the matter.

Under the new program, the postmaster general would name first, second and third class postmasters from Civil Service rolls on the merit basis. Customs collectors would be chosen by the secretary of the treasury. The attorney general would name U. S. Marshals.

Congress has 60 days in which to vote disapproval, of any of the plans. Otherwise they become effective.

The plan would take away from ment. And on April 2, 1938, from the pen of the same man and in the same magazine appeared another article titled, "A New Deal for the Nations." This article tells in detail how FDR, our president, was accepting a lot of advice from Mr. House. Out of which advice has led us as a nation into the mess of political corruption and dishonor we face today.

Out of the influence of America "Rasputin" has come to a large majority of Mr. Roosevelt's crackpot ideas, such as—AAA, WPA, NRA, New Deal, Square Deal, Fair Deal New Day, Fireside Chats, One World, Socialized Medicine, abolition of holding companies, elimination of states rights, government competition with private industry, wage and hour legislation, attacks on ownership of private property, packing of the Supreme Court, controls of all kinds, and the end is not yet.

FDR always replied, "WE planned it that way," and on one occasion in a heat of anger he said, "some day we will make them (American people) know who their masters are!" This conspiracy still exists to make America Socialist-Communist.

While their first puppet failed them, Franklin Roosevelt was a servant of this gang to the end of his days. Harry Truman still remains their pawn. Many people think General Eisenhower is their choice for president in this year 1952, because he has been identified as a military man with some of its activities.

The methods of this gang of government racketeers, or wreckers, is somewhat different today than in years past. They have weaned to their belief such extreme left-wingers and internationalists as Gov. Dewey, Duff of Pennsylvania, Senator Lodge, Stassen, Gov. Warren and many others, both Democrats and Republicans, the one idea is to land any one in the White House who will fit in their plan to socialize America. Look over their past records and see if they are not all "me-tooers." Since Mr. Truman has "bowed out" the Col. House gang is busy looking for a Democrat who will fit into their scheme, since they already have a Republican, and have already decided on Sen. Kefauver because of his internationalist views, as the one so far best suited to fit in their plan to make America Socialist or Communist.

The radical, liberal, left-wingers (Republicans and Democrats alike) have no use for a candidate with a substantial platform on which America can again regain her good name in the family of world nations, a candidate who has the ambition to tell the American people the TRUTH. Their supreme battle-cry is "Beat Taft!" or any other candidate who dares to stand against their plan to Socialize America.

This year of 1952 is the most decisive, most critical in our history. We are on the brink of Socialism, few people realize just how close we are to tipping over. It is time that we should put men of unquestioned integrity in positions of public trust. Men who stand four-square, tall and straight, ready and unafraid in the fight to make secure the American form of government, men like MacArthur, Taft, or Russell stature in positions of public trust.

"What I say unto you I say unto all, WATCH." Mark 13:37.

Major Leagues Set for Openers

All 16 Managers Are Predicting Finishes In First Divisions

NEW YORK, April 14—(P)—A new major league baseball season will open Tuesday bringing new thrills, new faces, new hopes but the same old predictions by the managers: "We're going to be better in '52."

All 16 big league pilots feel their clubs will finish among the first four.

Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians, said his team "has a great chance to win the American League flag." He added:

"I think our ball club is better this year than last. The Yankees are definitely not as good as in 1951. Our infield is the most improved part of our club, the outfield is improved and our pitching is solid."

Casey Stengel of the World Champion Yankees was a bit more conservative but no less optimistic. "WE'RE A cinch to finish one-

Spring Sports Hit by Weather

Baseball and Track Progress Slowly

Baseball and track, the two spring sports for high school athletes hereabouts, are taking a worse beating from the weather than from the opposition.

However, the one baseball game that has been played and one track meet run off by WHS teams, did have the benefit of about as good days as the spring has offered up to now.

The big handicap has been in practice. Neither the baseball squad nor the track outfit of Washington C. H. High School has had much of an opportunity to get in satisfactory workouts outdoors.

Besides, the rain and cold and lack of sunshine have held up work of putting the cinder path and jumping and vaulting pits at Gardner Park in the condition wanted by Curt Koons, the WHS coach.

JEFFERSONVILLE High School Tigers have managed to get in two baseball games, despite the weather, and are hoping to play another this week.

The WHS Lion baseballers are slated to go to Hillsboro to meet the Indians there Tuesday afternoon.

The Lions lost their opener to London at Wilson Field here, 9 to 8, last Tuesday. It was a loosely played game that showed lack of practice—and that went for both teams.

While the baseball boys have been on the field, the cold weather and soggy sod has slowed the workouts.

The game the Lions were to have played with the Tigers at Greenfield was called off when a down-pour drenched the countryside early in the afternoon.

THE WHS TRACK team may have a meet here Thursday afternoon, but it is not certain yet. Coach Koons has been trying to book one, but has come up with nothing definite.

A triangular meet at Gardner Park here with the Circleville and Hillsboro squads definitely is set for April 21.

The South Central Ohio League went in for both baseball and track this spring.

Meanwhile, the four Fayette County high schools were getting ready for their big field day, tentatively scheduled for May 2 at Gardner Park. It will be for both boys and girls. Supt. G. H. Biddle of Bloomingburg, heads the committee that is working out the details.

Match Scheduled

CLEVELAND, April 14—(P)—Chico Vejar, classy New York Welter weight, and Red Defazio of Bayonne, N. J., will meet in a return bout here Friday night.

Persistence Paid Off

MIAMI (P)—Persistence paid off for Jockey Jimmy Stout at the Widener this year at Hialeah. Jimmy had gone to the post eight times in this famous race without success. The ninth time, his 1952 effort, saw Stout come through on Spartan Valor, leading all the way.

Favored Tribe Set For First Game Of 1952

CLEVELAND, April 14 — (P)—With a few new faces here and there, the pennant-favored 1952 Indians took a final breather in Cleveland Monday before heading for Chicago and the start of a fresh season.

The team worked out briefly in the stadium in the morning, gathered at the annual noon baseball lunch thrown by the Cleveland Ad Club and then they're off to meet the White Sox Tuesday.

Here are the important differences in the team as compared with a year ago:

1. In Tuesday's opener, veteran Dale Mitchell is expected to watch from the bench. Rookie Jim Fridley will be in his leftfield spot on the basis of right handed hitting and a .346 spring batting average. Fridley has never played higher than AA ball before.

2. Catcher Quincy Troupe, a veteran of Negro baseball, is expected to sign an Indian contract Monday, transferring from Indianapolis. He, too, is a newcomer to the major leagues. Utility infielder Johnny Berardino, a former Indian, also is to be offered a contract.

3. Sam Jones, an able pitcher, has rejoined the Indians. He left in the middle of spring training to rest a sore arm, but he says now: "My arm feels fine."

4. The only other player besides Troupe, Fridley and Berardino who wasn't with the team last season is Outfielder Pete Reiser, a National League star of the past. Pistol Pete, in 24 times at bat, marked up the amazing percentage of .542 this spring.

Yonkers Due To Open Sulky Card Tuesday

NEW YORK, April 14—(P)—Yonkers Raceway, where all national betting records for harness tracks were broken last year, begins its third season Tuesday night expecting an even greater boom in prosperity.

Many of the best known drivers in the game will be on hand, several of them in the inaugural pace, which drew so many starters officials were forced to split it into two divisions. Seventeen of the 19 horses nominated were entered.

In the first section, worth $4,550, Stanley Dancer drives Musician, with Billy Haughton handling Stanton Hal. Dancer was leading driver at Yonkers two straight seasons. Eight horses are in this division.

Prince Adios, one of the best three-year-old pacers of 1951, heads the second section, with Clint Hodgins in the sulky. Also in the field of nine will be Retlaw Winchell, driven by Stanley Tweedie, and Meda Volo, driven by Jimmy Jordan.

The Yonkers spring session runs through May 24, closing with two weeks of the Grand Circuit. About $700,000 in purses will be on the line for the spring meeting.

Wehmeier Gets Nod To Pitch Opener For Cincinnati Redlegs

CINCINNATI, April 14—(P)—Herman Wehmeier, a big hometown product who was one of the Cincinnati Reds' biggest disappointments last year, will have the distinction of being the opening day pitcher when the Redlegs meet the Chicago Cubs here Tuesday.

"Through a big part of last season, Wehmeier had trouble lasting more than a few innings, largely because of faulty control. He finally wound up with seven victories as against 10 defeats.

Things have been different this year, however, and big Herman, a 25-year-old right-hander, has been the hottest pitcher on the Reds' roster in spring training.

Off his exhibition performances, Manager Luke Sewell picked Wehmeier to do the opening game chore—a job that usually is handled by Ewell Blackwell or Ken Ralfensberger.

Sewell also made up his mind about his outfield starters—at least for the time being.

THE REDLEG pilot said he'd

Wall Holds Lead In $10,000 Open

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 14 —(P)—Art Wall Jr., the Pennsylvanian who boasts a phenomenal record of 31 holes in one, was on the threshold of his first big victory in a three-year professional golfing career Monday.

But standing in Wall's path to the $2,000 first place payoff window of the $10,000 Greater Greensboro Open tournament was Sammy Sneed, an old hand at winning here. Wall came in with a 67 in Sunday's third round for a 54-hole total of 206 and a one-stroke lead over Sneed.

Coach Resigns

DEFIANCE, April 14—(P)—Robert G. Cowan resigned as football coach at Defiance high school Sunday. Cowan, former Indiana University player and ex-professional griddier, will become coach at North Side high school in Fort Wayne.

open with Johnny Wrostek in right, Bob Borkowski in center and Joe Adcock in left. Borkowski, obtained from the Chicago Cubs during the winter, is the only newcomer to the outer garden. His recent hitting surge won him the job.

"I'm convinced this is my best outfield trio at this time," Sewell said. "However, if it doesn't work out, I can always go back to the two-platoon system I experimented with before leaving Tampa.

"That would bring both Dick Sisler and Hank Edwards into action when a righthander is opposing the Reds and with Wrostek playing in center field."

Borkowski will be one of only two newcomers to Cincinnati in the opening day lineup. The other will be Catcher Andy Seminick, obtained from the Philadelphia Phils.

The infield makeup will be different last season, however. Ted Kluszewski will be back at first base but Sewell has moved Grady Hatton from third base to second and shifted Bobby Adams to third. The shortstop will be Roy McMillan who shared the job last season with Virgil Stallcup.

Sugar and Rocky Tapering Drills

CHICAGO, April 14—(P)—Champion Ray Robinson and Rocky Graziano, each boasting he'll win by a knockout, have ended heavy drills for their middleweight title brawl in Chicago Stadium Wednesday.

Sugar Ray rules a solid 3-1 favorite. It will be his second middleweight title defense since regaining the crown from Randy Turpin in New York last September.

The scheduled 15-rounder will be televised and broadcast nationally starting at 10 p. m.

CELEBRATING his 77th birthday April 9, Ed Stokes, oldest blacksmith in the United States, cleans a horse's hoof on the Eyrie Farm, home of Maj. Al Williams, near Elizabeth City, N. C. Stokes, five-foot, one-inch, 120-pounder, also is the only man in the country who has shod horses continuously for 60 years. Holding the halter is Williams, world's leading precision aviator who held America's air speed record for eight years. (International)

Don't Yell at This Ump

DALLAS (P)—C. A. (Bud) Newman is an umpire who can shut out the static from the ball players or fans any time he wants to.

Newman uses a hearing aid. He can just cut it off if the conversation doesn't suit him.

Bud becomes an umpire in the Texas League this year after working in the Evangeline, Cotton States, Southeastern and Eastern Leagues.

Says J. Alvin Gardner, President of the Texas League, "It might be better if all the umpires could be as adept at cutting out noises like Bud Newman can."

"There is No Substitute For Fair Dealing"

Not "warmed over" but strictly brand new!

YOU OWE it to your pocketbook to drive this Chrysler engine before you buy any fine car today.

It's not a "warmed-over" engine, but a basically brand-new one!

It gives a new kind of performance that means new life for every dollar you pay out for purchase, upkeep, or operation.

It was built brand-new around a hemispherical combustion chamber which makes better use of gasoline, and also permits sounder all-round engine structure, than any American motor car engine has had before.

It delivers 180 horsepower . . . without requiring you to buy premium gasoline. It runs with less waste, less heat, less friction and less wear than previous designs can equal. Its combustion is so clean it literally develops almost no carbon deposit at all.

It will last longer than any engine you've ever known. It will cost you less along the way. It will stay "young" in performance thousands of miles past the point where an ordinary engine shows old age.

And on top of all that, it makes driving a lot more pleasure! Its smooth response . . . its safety-power, in reserve for emergencies . . . its easy scorm for distance or hills . . . make you just plain feel good at the wheel as you've never felt before.

For the good of your purse and your pleasure too . . . we invite you to drive it, soon!

Letters To Editor

A Washington C. H. business man mailed a letter to us Saturday, which is likely to appeal to many readers. His letter, with enclosure, is no less interesting at this date, than before Jefferson's birthday. It follows:

April 12, 1952

The Record-Herald,
Washington C. H., Ohio
Gentlemen:

The re-printed letter of Abraham Lincoln, hereby enclosed, leads me to believe that times haven't improved much since Lincoln's days, with the political pot calling the political kettle 'black' and the supplanting of the principles of free government by a tyrannical government setting itself above the law and the constitution. More honor to Thomas Jefferson and the things he stood for on the 209th anniversary of his birth.

Lincoln or Jefferson

April 13, which always takes on added importance in an election year because it is Thomas Jefferson's birthday, is a good time to recall these immortal words of Abraham Lincoln. (From the Wit and Wisdom of Abraham Lincoln, edited by H. Jack Lang.)

Springfield, Ill.

Jefferson Day Celebration Committee
Gentlemen:

I remember being once much amused at seeing two partially intoxicated men engaged in a fight with their great-coats on, which fight, after a long and rather harmless contest, ended in each having fought himself out of his own coat and into that of the other. If the two leading parties of this day are really identical with the two in the days of Jefferson and Adams, they have performed the same feat as the two drunken men. But, soberly, it is now no child's play to save the principles of Jefferson from total overthrow in this nation. One would state with great confidence that he could convince any sane child that the simpler propositions of Euclid are true; but nevertheless he would fail, utterly, with one who should deny the definitions and axioms. The principles of Jefferson are the definitions and axioms of free society. And yet they are denied and evaded with no small show of success. One dashing calls them "glittering generalities." Another blurtly calls them "self-evident lies." And others insidiously argue that they apply to "superior races." These expressions differing in form, are identical in effect and effect the supplanting of the principles of free government, and storing those of classification, caste, and legitimacy.

They would delight a convocation of crowned heads plotting against the people. They are the vanguard, the miners and sappers of returning despotism. We must repulse them, or they will subjugate us. This is a world of compensation; and he who would be no slave must consent to have no slave. Those who deny freedom to others deserve it not for themselves, and under a just God, cannot long retain it. All honor to Jefferson to the man, who, in the concrete pressure of a struggle for national independence by a single people, had the coolness, forecast, and capacity to introduce into a merely revolutionary document an abstract truth, applicable to all men and all times, and so to embalm it there that today and in all coming days it shall be a rebuke and a stumbling block to the very harbingers of reappearing tyranny and oppression.

Your obedient servant,
A. Lincoln

Japanese Women 'Abuse' Equality

TOKYO, April 14.—This is "Women's Week" in Japan. But police officer Tadeo Takase protested some women "abuse equal status" granted women by occupation authorities.

His wife is one of these women, he said in a divorce action. He said she "abused equal status" by walking out on him 40 times, tearing his underwear, ripping his uniforms when he planned to attend conventions, and chasing him off his beat.

Survey Planned

CANTON, April 14.—What's wrong with Canton? The Canton Committee for City Improvement is going to pay $100,000 to find out. The committee has engaged the Robert Moses Co. of New York to make the survey.

Man Ends Life With .22 Rifle

Stanley E. Sanders Is Found Dead

Stanley Earl Sanders, 40, ended his life with a .22 calibre rifle in his room on the second floor of the Cherry Hotel sometime after 2:30 A. M. Monday.

His body was found on the floor of the room, the rifle near him, b. Mrs. Hazel Leach. The bullet had penetrated his head from the right temple and came out above the left ear. He was fully clothed. Friends said he had been depressed for sometime.

Mrs. Leach, a maid at the hotel, found his body when she opened the door of the room for the routine tidying up.

Police and the county coroner, Dr. N. M. Reiff, made an investigation.

A note was found near his body. It read: "Ann—please take care of the kids. I love you, Ann. Stanley."

A Bible in the room was open at Matthew 23.

INVESTIGATION by the police disclosed that he had been seen as late as 2:30 A. M. Monday, belief was expressed that he killed himself soon after he had gone to his room.

He had been employed as bartender at Son's Grill for sometime, and prior to that he had been employed at the Elks club rooms, and the Washington Paint and Glass Co.

He was a member of the Christian Church of New Vienna.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Anna Sanders; two daughters and a son, Franchen, 15, Sharma, 9 and Phillip, 11; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sanders, of New Vienna; two brothers, Ralph of Greenfield and John, of New Vienna.

Funeral services will be held at the Gerstner Funeral Home at 2 P. M. Wednesday. Burial will be in the Bloomington Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 P. M. Monday.

Twister Lashes

factories and damaging many homes and trees. In New Philadelphia a tree fell on a car driven by George Miller, 42. He was treated in Union Hospital for a hip cut.

The tornado cut down trees in a narrow patch on the west side of the Tuscarawas River, then roared down on an appliance firm and a concrete company.

ART ULRICH, 37-year-old appliance firm watchman, said:

"I heard it coming and hid under a boiler. There was a big ker-whooosh and it was all over."

That "ker-whooosh" cost the two factories better than $100,000. Hobart Johnson, owner of the cement firm, said damage at his plant would reach $100,000. Appliance company damage was expected to reach as high as $100,000.

The wind blew off the roofs of both factories and pushed in parts of outer walls.

Traffic in southern Dover was blocked for a time. Police said electric power was out in several sections.

Waning wind power did less damage in New Philadelphia.

The twister apparently struck first south of Columbus in Marion Township. One building was wrecked; several roofs were swept away. Sheriff's deputies said damage "exceeded $200,000."

The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. said wind caused a power shortage for three hours.

From the Columbus area, the storm dropped in on Rocky Locks, about 15 miles south of Zanesville on the Muskingum River. Several river cottages and many trees were damaged.

One more skip, and the storm struck the 108-year-old Rockville Baptist Church in Dale. It was nearly leveled. Six Mile Turn, about 12 miles from Zanesville, reported a drive-in theater screen

GRAND JURY MEETS

The April grand jury met Monday, with indications the session would end during the afternoon.

Seven cases were scheduled to come before the investigators through the usual channels.

The cases are: Joe E. Edwards, forger; Myron Smith, assault; Clark Leeth, possessing numbers; Harry Owens, forgery; James Lee Verderano, breaking and entering; Robert E. Bowen, giving worthless check and Raymond Settles, theft of a truck.

DIVORCE SUIT

Betty Jean Larkins, married April 14, 1948, has filed suit for divorce from Thomas Larkins, charging gross neglect of duty. They have no children. J. S. S. Riley, Greenfield, represents the plaintiff.

SUES ON CONTRACT

Lola M. King, filing action in common pleas court against George Colaw, asks for an accounting and damages growing out of a farm contract she made with the defendant.

The plaintiff, who is represented by Richard P. Rankin, states that the defendant sold livestock, grain and other property without her consent, damaged planted wheat, $25; barn, $150 and by reason of other acts damaged the farm $250. She asks judgment in the above amounts as well as an accounting.

DIVORCES GRANTED

Judge H. M. Rankin has granted divorces in the cases of Wayne Southworth against Carol Mae Southworth, on gross neglect of duty charges, and to Lula Berneva Carl from James Carl, on gross neglect of duty claims. Mrs. Carl also asks custody of their child and that the defendant provide for it.

Dental Lab Course Now Open to Women

Ohio State University's course in dental laboratory technology is now open to women students, Dr. Wendell D. Postle, dean of the College of Dentistry, announced today.

The two-year course—the only one of its type offered by a college of dentistry in this country—has been restricted to men since its establishment at Ohio State five years ago.

"The change opens a new field of training for women in the University," college officials pointed out, "and is an added service of the College of Dentistry to the educational program of the university."
